MICHAEL HENNINGS | Studio OFFBEAT

ABOUT

Based on architecture, Michael Hennings is an artist based in Hamburg whose work combines architecture, material, and perception into concise forms of artistic expression. His works draw on the forms, structures, and color tones of built space and translate them into independent compositions that are aesthetically accessible while also touching on deeper questions of transformation and building culture.

Through his precise work with color, surface, and space, Michael Hennings opens up a visual language that is reduced and clear, yet open to associations. People are invited to see familiar architectural fragments in a new light, as part of a poetic exploration of the city, materiality, and change.

His work encompasses different media and scales: from wall and room objects to photomontages and large-format murals that have an impact on the urban space. Hennings' approach is interdisciplinary, consistent and changeable at the same time, and shows a continuous line that brings architecture and art together.

Exhibitions and projects in galleries and public spaces testify to the resonance of his work, which moves between artistic reflection and socially relevant questions of building culture.
